A-Meet Update

by Rick Worner

Plans are well underway for our "A" meet on October 18th & 19th. The meet will be at Letchworth West on Saturday and Mendon Ponds on Sunday. An eight course Chinese meal will be offered at the Shanghai Restaurant on Saturday night. An "A" meet brings orienteers from all over the Northeast and Canada. Eight different courses will be offered each day and winners are determined by a two-day total time. Newcomers to orienteering will find their favorite White and Yellow courses that are similar to what is offered at our local meets. "A" meets are more expensive because of USOF sanctioning fees, awards and higher organizational costs. In the "A" meet you must compete as an individual. Groups are not allowed on competitive courses. If you want to go out with your friends or family members you may choose a "Recreational Course". These will be the same White, Yellow and Orange courses started at a little later time and costing only $5 each day.

We expect around 300 "A" meet participants and around 50 people on the recreational courses each day. Day care is offered while you are competing for a small charge. Details for the meet are available at local meets or on our web site. Come out an enjoy the fun.

Volunteering for the A-Meet

by Rick Worner

A complete listing of all the helpers needed was listed in the March issue. Please remember that if you work you can compete for free. This can save you more than $30. If you are willing to work please contact me at 581-2979 or by e-mail at wornerkohn@aol.com We will need almost everyone in the club who is planning to attend to volunteer in some way if we want to have a successful meet.

CNYO Rogaine XIII

Central New York Orienteering welcomes the brave, the strong, and the daring to their 2003 edition of orienteering's fastest growing variation: the ROGAINE. An acronym for Rugged Outdoor Group Activity Involving Navigation and Endurance (and not some miracle hair tonic), this form of long distance orienteering team event originated in Australia during the mid 80's and has rapidly begun to spread the world over.

The event will take place on July 26-27 at the Nordic Ski Center and surrounding state lands of Virgil NY which is less than a two hour drive from Rochester. For more information visit the CNYO web site: http://cnyo.us.orienteering.org/2003/rogaine/2003rogaine.html

Register by July 5 to avoid late fees.

Registration Forms Available

In addition to the updated ROC membership form this issue of The Wild Times includes the US Orienteering Federation standard meet entry form which can be used for the upcoming A–Meet registration. The form can also be downloaded from the USOF web site: http://www.us.orienteering.org.

General information on local meets

Courses

The club this year will use the USOF "color" designations wherever applicable. A description of the courses is as follows:

Color	White	Yellow	Orange	Brown	Green	Red	Blue
Approx. distance, km	2-4	3-5	4-7	3-5	4-7	6-10	8-14
Number of controls	4-12	5-12	8-12	8-12	8-12	8-15	10-18
Difficulty	Easiest	Easy	Medium	Hard	Hard	Hard	Hard

The White course is intended to be easy enough for first-time participants after a short introduction to the sport. Control points are generally on trails or similarly easy-to-locate features.

The Yellow course is slightly more difficult than the White course. Control points are generally placed close to but not right at easy-to-find features, such as on a knoll that is 50 m away from a trail junction.

The Orange course requires more map-reading and course-planning skills than the Yellow course. Controls will generally have a good attack point, but the attack point may be more subtle than on the Yellow course, or the control will be placed further from the attack point. The route choice from one control to the attack point for the next control is often less obvious than on the Yellow course.

The Brown, Green, Red, and Blue courses differ from each other only in length. At local parks, they are usually the most difficult course that can be set given the size and the terrain of the park. Map-reading, compass, and route-planning skills will be tested to a greater degree on this course.

Sometimes other courses may be offered, such as a Motala (a course which involves one or more map exchanges), or a Line-O or Score-O. These courses will be explained in the meet instructions at any meet which uses these formats.

Fees

The entry fees to ROC meets are $3.00 per map for ROC members and $5.00 per map for non-members. If several people (a family group for example) enter as a group using the same map, the fee is still $3.00 (members) or $5.00 (non-members). A person or group can do a second course using the same map for no additional charge (if you complete the Short course and decide to try the Medium course, for example).

Beginner instruction

Beginners are always welcome; there is an informal beginners' clinic approximately 15 minutes after the beginning of the event, and all meets offer a course suitable for beginning orienteers.

Trip to Rocky Mountain 1000-Day

Laramie, Wyoming, July 2002

by Cheryl and Dick Detwiler

One of the great things about the sport of orienteering is that it gives an opportunity and a reason to see parts of the country where one otherwise probably would never see, and orienteering being what it is, you get a much closer tie with the land, geography, and plant life of a region than you would just from driving through, looking at the scenery.

Every two years, the Rocky Mountain Orienteering Club (RMOC) holds an event called the "1000-day", presumably named because there are a LOT of days of orienteering offered (not quite 1000, but a lot nevertheless). In 1999, a group of six from Rochester (myself, Paul Schwartz, Larry Zygo, and our sons) went there and had some very enjoyable orienteering.

Last summer, the constellations aligned to give Cheryl and me the opportunity to head out there to participate in the 2002 1000-day event (both of our kids were out of town at the exact time as the 1000-day). With a little persuasion, I was able to somehow convince Cheryl that spending most of a week tromping around in the plains and hills of the mountains outside of Laramie, Wyoming would be just a great vacation for the two of us. There was a compromise that we wouldn't spend quite the entire week orienteering, but that we would take around 4 days to head down to Colorado after 5 days or so of orienteering.

Cheryl likes to orienteer but isn't quite as enthusiastic about it as I am; a Yellow course is generally about right for her optimum enjoyment. The terrain in Wyoming is quite different from anything around here, as you might expect. It is much more open for one thing; for advanced courses, that generally makes the orienteering easier, but for people used to White and Yellow eastern courses, it actually presents a bit of a challenge because there aren't as many trails, so it is often necessary to use less obvious features to navigate with, such as fences, stream, indistinct boundaries between fields and wooded areas, and the like.

The trip out there was uneventful; unlike in 1999, when we drove out (something like 30 hours straight through!), this time we flew into Denver, rented a car, and had a pleasant drive from Denver to Laramie, getting there Thursday evening. Friday was the first event of the week, a mass start "Stampede", with everyone doing the same course, on a map called Plains of Despair. It was low-key, it didn't count for anything at all, and it was a chance to get used to the altitude (8500 feet!) and the terrain. (Example of the low-key nature of it: The meet organizers showed up with the maps barely 5 minutes before the announced start time!)

Cheryl and I decided to do the course together, to help give her a feel for the maps and the terrain. The temperature was very warm that day, the start time was around 1 pm, and the sun was a definite factor. The course consisted of three loops, the first two fairly short and the last one quite a bit longer. After two loops, the heat was getting to Cheryl and she decided she had pretty much had enough! I went on and did the last loop on my own.

The next event was the Night-O on Saturday night. That gave us most of the day to travel to Cheyenne to check out their Frontier Days, which is a major weeklong festival, attracting people from many different states. We got to see their parade in the morning; outstanding; I don't think we've ever seen so many horses in one spot! I'm not a big parade person, but this was one of the best I've ever seen.

For the Night-O, I had to do some arm twisting to get Cheryl to try it at all ... the thought of being out at night in an unfamiliar type of terrain wasn't real appealing it seems. And the weather turned out to be a factor for the night-O, but in the opposite extreme as the hot weather for the Stampede: a front came through and it got very cold and windy, probably 40 degrees with a 20-30 mph wind. She had some difficulty with the night course, starting out by making a 180 degree error right out of the start! Also, there were several legs that were supposed to be streamered, but the streamers were next to invisible in the darkness, some of them even having been blown away. She wound up taking a DNF on the night-O. For myself, I started out a bit shaky ... it definitely took me a control or two to get into the map, and get used to reading the map with a flashlight. I missed figuring out that there was a very easy route choice to the first control, taking a more challenging one instead. But after the 2nd control, I felt pretty good and probably had my best run of the week (which isn't a good thing considering that was only the second day!), averaging not much more than 10 minutes/km and finishing in the top half (15th out of 45) of the Green participants.

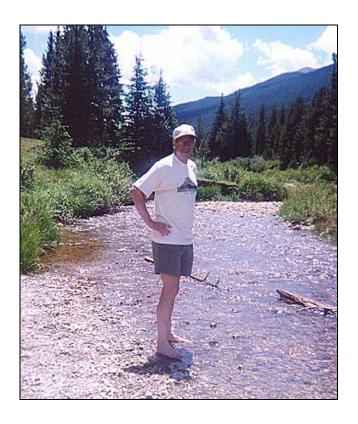

The next day (Sunday) was a "sprint plus chase" event – two courses, on two different maps, one in the morning (4 km), the other (8 km) in the afternoon, with the start times for the afternoon determined by the finish times in the morning event. It was another "everyone does the same course" setup, so we decided it probably was going to be Green type difficulty (morning was more like Orange, afternoon was more Green-Red) and therefore not a good idea for Cheryl to try it. I did OK – finishing in an exact tie with Sharon Crawford, which I was very pleased to do. The terrain was much more technical that the Plains of Despair, with some significant challenges especially in the afternoon event. It was a tiring day, with a total of 12 km of orienteering.

The next two days were "regular" meet days, with the typical selection of courses. Cheryl did respectably on Yellow, generally finishing around the middle of the pack for those on that course (and the first finisher of the F-open Yellow participants). I chose to do Red for those two days and for the Long-O on Wednesday; my very twisted reasoning was that I was spending all that time and all that money to come out for this meet, so I should really get my money's worth and do the longer Red course rather than my normal Green! (Fortunately, my logic didn't extend as far as deciding to do the Blue, to REALLY get my money's worth!) I did OK but not great, finishing well down in the bottom half of the participants on Red both days; but my time per km was around 12.5 minutes both days, not really bad for me.

The last day of orienteering that we did was on Wednesday, the US Long-O Championships, Chervl again did well on Yellow (which wasn't really a "long" Yellow, more like the normal length), finishing again around the middle of the pack of the Yellow participants. I, on the other hand, struggled big-time with the 14 km Red course, at 8500 feet altitude, on a very warm, sunny day. I did OK for about the first two-thirds of the course, but then I had a major brain freeze (which I'll blame on being out in the hot sun for too long), made a parallel error, and took 45 minutes on a control that should have taken around 15 minutes. I wound up finishing in just over three hours, finishing 31 out of 35 people on Red. Still, my time per km was around 13 minutes, pretty much what I had done on the regular-length courses, so if I only hadn't had that major mistake, I would have been pretty happy with the run.

We said good-bye to the orienteers and headed down to Colorado, spending some time in and around Rocky Mountain National Park; a gorgeous place, we highly recommend it. We also liked the town of Estes Park, on the eastern side of the park. Then it was back home to Rochester, after a great trip, both the orienteering and the non-orienteering parts of it or 7 hour rogaine.

Relay for Life

Two "Relay for Life" teams, one in Spencerport and one in Honeoye Falls, were formed to honor ROC members who have battled cancer. The Spencerport team was the "Rochester Orienteering Club" and the Honeoye Falls team was "Memorial Madness & Pege's Pride." Contributions were made by many ROC members, co-workers, and community and church friends to keep hope alive for those affected by cancer. A Survivors' Lap and a Luminaria Ceremony were held at both sites. Each light, laid out alongside track and burning through the commemorated a treasured relationship. members who participated at one or both sites included Carol Moran, Jean & Tom Witzel, Larry Zygo, Rick Worner, Kathy Bannister, Kay Sheehan, Jim Tappon, Tom Lamme, and Sandra Lomker. Everyone thought the Relay for Life was a terrific, touching and awesome experience and cannot wait for next year's event.

The Spencerport event had 44 teams with 950 participants and 84 survivors. In their 5th year they accumulated more than $70,000. The Honeoye Falls event had 24 teams with more than 300 participants and 34 survivors. In their 2nd year they more than doubled their contributions with a total of more than $20,000. If anyone wishes to make a contribution towards either the Spencerport or Honeoye Falls events, please make out a check and send to the American Cancer Society, 1400 N. Winton Rd., Rochester 14609. You can specify event and team name if you wish. THANKS again for everyone's support.

Board of Directors Meeting Minutes

Submitted by Sandra Lomker, Secretary

The last ROC Board of Directors' meeting was held on May 15, 2003 at President Larry Zygo's. The previous minutes from January 12 were approved as written. The need for volunteers at local meets was stressed. There are several upcoming meets that lack volunteer support including meet directors, registration, start & finish, greeters, food, and control pickup. Sign up on the ROC website under "Meet Volunteers" or call the Hot Line. All volunteers may participate in that meet free of charge.

Dick Detwiler made a motion, seconded by Jim Tappon, and approved to leave meet fees the same and that this fee would include the use of dibbles, $3 for members and $5 for others. For more advanced courses with electronic punching, dibblers will be mandatory.

Mapping is progressing and Dick has worked with Sterling in Scotland on mapping Oatka at an approximate cost of $500.00 to cover the photos and base map. Jim Russell is updating Powder Mill. Dick also reported that local meets would only use the East Side of Durand, as it is too difficult to cross from west to east with the golf course restrictions.

Since the annual membership meeting in December, Treasurer Kathy Bannister reported income of $2394.67 that included map sales, meet fees, membership and interest etc. Expenses were $6927.46, which included advertising, meetings, park fees, phone, postage, printing, supplies, USOF fees, e-punching equipment, porta-john, NYSSRA, and VHS tapes. As of May 18, ROC's balance is $5143.61.

Rick Worner reported on the upcoming A-Meet, Oct. 18 & 19, in Letchworth and Mendon Ponds. Flyers have been distributed at several A-Meets and an article was included in the ONA. Dick is investigating on-line registration.

Other business included:

- 1. Randy McGarvey is compiling a distribution list.
- 2. Tim Lagerhausen has resigned from the board.
- 3. The BOD approved re-registering as a group in "Friends of Letchworth" at a cost of $25.00.

Meeting was adjourned and no date was set for the next meeting.

Power Mills Park

April 27, 2003

It seemed that mother nature was trying to make up for the ice storm that forced cancellation of the planned Ice Breaker a couple weeks ago, and provided an absolutely gorgeous day for orienteering! Clear skies and very comfortable temperatures were the order of the day. The park seemed to (mostly) survive the ice storm (only a few scrambles required) and for the most part the park was remarkably clear of mud.

This was our second attempt to incorporate epunching into an ROC meet, and for the most part things went reasonably well. The major problem turned out to be trying to also handle the reporting of the non-epunching results using the computer! The other operational problems (confusion on getting start times and a lack of posting of intermediate results) should be resolved by the next meet.

Letchworth State Park

May 31, 2003

What a day! Rain, Rain and more Rain -- coupled with some challenging, technical courses ... and of course this IS Letchworth ... and that means hills and climb. Well the good news is the new club shelters were well broken in!

Tina Bray set her first courses with the White and Yellow courses - and the reports from the finishers were all positive -- Carol Moran even came into to the finish all smiles, beaming ear to ear!

Sergey Dobretsov set the Orange, Green and Red courses and provided a real challenge. My first inkling of what was to come was Sergey saying in passing "maybe everyone should run down one course" and then "you know the vegetation has really leafed out since I was here two weeks ago ... " -- uh oh!

Some hours later, as I circled the spot I was SURE held the control, I thought back on that and wondered if I SHOULD have run the Orange course! I'm sure many others felt the same. But on this day, and with this course, completing every leg was an accomplishment.

In the end everyone made it back, and all seemed to have a good time!

I want to give thanks to those who helped at the meet including Kay Sheehan (the muffins were great) and Kathy Bannister kept registration moving along. Ravi Nareppa and Dave Levine handled the epunching registration and results. Special thanks go to Tina and Sergey for taking on the course setting with very short notice, and to Dave Levine and Bob Bundy for staying quite late and helping to get the shelters down and packed up.

Kathy Bannister Corner

Kathy Bannister, one of the most notorious club members, shares some of her orienteering related experiences.

Losing Oneself in Scotland

As I was going through customs on my way to the Scottish Six-Day, a very pleasant customs official asked a question that orienteers often hear, "Aren't you afraid you are going to get lost?" This kind fellow didn't know I was an orienteer. He saw a middleaged female, a few pounds overweight, traveling by herself. I probably did not fit the standard profile; I be visiting grandchildren under these circumstances. How could the official know that beneath the outside appearance was a desire for adventure and a confidence honed by years of orienteering success and failure?. My response to his question was, "No, I'm an orienteer." I might also have said, "No, I'm a woman and I will ask for directions." (Not in a competition, of course, but as I travel around Scotland).

I must admit that I'm frequently annoyed that much of the world views women as helpless; unable to make decisions or do things by themselves. This misconception is reinforced by the fact that women sometimes feign needing more assistance than they really do. In any case, the question "Aren't you afraid you will get lost?" led me to ponder why people are so concerned about getting lost. I suspect in this fastpaced world one reason is the time constraint. People feel they can not afford to lose time to do something not on their schedule. It is an inconvenience and may make us late for another commitment. I had arrived three days before the event so I could travel, being late was not a reason for concern. Also I had left those days completely open with no set agenda. I could wander the countryside making decisions as I progressed. I was free to change direction at will. On further consideration, the only real concerns about getting lost would be extreme weather conditions, too little or too much moisture, no food for an extended time, or an attack by a predator, human or otherwise. Being in Scotland in the summer I thought it unlikely that any of these posed a serious threat, although it did rain frequently.

So as I see it, getting lost is an opportunity to see something unexpected and that can be a nice surprise and a pleasant way to meet other people. So it you have a little adventure in your soul, lost is not such a bad state.

A New Meaning for Parallel Error

A Case of Mistaken Identity

I experienced a rude awakening early on a very chilly morning of the second day of the "Pumpkin Hunt" about three years ago. Strolling along in my solitary reverie, head bowed, hood up, hands stuffed in the front pouch pocket of my gray Adidas sweatshirt, I was heading toward the Start area. Then, without warning, something slammed down hard on both my shoulders and someone was on my back. I yelled, "Ahhh! Who is that?!" and turned to see my attacker. You can imagine my surprise to discover an unknown teenage boy dismounting from his would-be piggyback ride. My shocked expression was nothing compared to the look on his face, however, when he realized I was not one of his buddies, but rather a 5'2" member of F 50+. I said "Wrong person, right?" In a speechless mode he managed to confirm my inquiry. This incident had me giggling out loud for days.

While reflectioning on this faux pas; I decided it is not all that bad to be mistaken for someone 35 years younger. It is also reassuring to know I didn't lose my balance and crumple under his unexpected weight on my back. My high school math students, who often find me intimidating, especially enjoyed this story.

Just one more reason to love orienteering... there are always surprises and challenges to be encountered.

Orienteering Glossary

By Orienteering Unlimited, Inc.

Control Punch - a small plastic clipper with different designs of pins. Used to verify each control feature has been visited.

Course - a sequence of control points marked on the map which are to be visited by the orienteer.

Cross Country Course - the classic course used for all major competitions. Control features must be visited in the prescribed order.

Dog-Leg - positioning of a control which favors approaching and leaving a control by the same route, thereby leading other competitors to the control. Course design which results in a dog-leg should be avoided.

Fine Orienteering - precision navigation in detailed terrain usually demanding careful use of map, compass and pace counting, and usually involving short course legs.

Folding the Map - orienteers fold their maps to aid concentration on the leg being run, and to facilitate thumbing their position.

Handrail - A linear feature which closely parallels your route and acts as a handrail to the next control.

Knoll - a small hill.

Leg - a section of a course between two control points.

Legend or Key - a list of the symbols represented on the map..

Linear Feature - a feature that extends in one direction for some distance e.g., paths, fences, stonewalls, and streams. Used as handrails.

Line Event - event where maps are marked with a line indicating the exact route to be followed. Participants mark the precise location of each of the controls they find along the route.

Orienting the Map - matching the orientation of the map to the features on the ground. This is one of the fundamental skills in orienteering, and leads to successful navigation. The map can be oriented either by comparing the map directly with the terrain or by using a compass to orient to north.

To be concluded...
